

V Rising How to Raid Castles and Siege using Golem

This guide will tell you, how to raid a castle using siege stone golems. Know how to loot from your LAN enemies and sidewise strategies you base to prevent it from raiding.

Raiding is the big cheese of V Rising. It is the best content of the game because on a higher note if you develop your skills of raiding and you get to your max level and defeat all the main bosses you are going to fight over soul shards; a powerful artifact and whoever possess all four, is named as the Dracula of the server. Raiding is fun and misery for enemies. The hard-earned loot they possessed shall be all yours before the sun rises. So, let's get started.

How to raid in V rising: -

But yeah, tarry a little. Before raiding you need to know what all you need for a successful raid. It can be explosives or a siege golem. Siege golem has more leverage over explosives due its mega structure and ruthless moves or spells to critically damage the walls of the opponent's base. First start with weaker forts having impuissant aegis. Nevertheless, you will get to know how to raid tougher forts with due experience.

Building the siege golem in V Rising: -

As you know every ability in V Rising is unlocked by defeating the respective boss. Here you need to defeat Terah, the Geomancer, a level 48 boss that unlocks the recipe to construct the siege golem.

For making the siege golem stone, you need:

- 200 stone bricks: break some stones and put it down on the ground, you will get those
- 200 gem dusts: get some gems and break it to get gem dust
- 16 Scourgestones: you can get it as drop from mobs in cemetery places like the Ancient villages or the Church of the Damned. Unless, you can craft it using whetstone, glass and grave dust. (Refer to my previous article: V Rising Scourgestone and where to get them)
- 12 Greater Blood Essence: you can use the hearts to make it or you can defeat Tristin, the Vampire Hunter and coagulate the small blood essence drops into larger ones using blood press.

Now once you get hold of these, you are ready to craft the stone. Get a Gem Cutting Table and craft the Golem stone. That's all.

After you create the siege golem stone, choose your target to activate the golem (in other words, summon him). The place needed to be chose wisely because after it is summoned it only stays alive for 300 seconds. The summoning takes 150 seconds. These points are vividly mentioned in the recipe for crafting golems.

Things you need to keep in mind while summoning:

When the summoning process is activated, it pings throughout the whole server and let your enemies know that you are going to raid. Besides, the map will off course show where you are summoning the golem. The process can be intervened and the stone might get destroyed before summoning.

Who's gonna do that? It can be by your LAN server friends or might be your righteous contender. Whosoever it is, just buckle up for a fight to protect the golem. Once it is summoned it appears with a massive blackened body with red blood marks all over it. Only one payer can take control over the golem.

Abilities of Golem in V Rising:

- It has only 5 minutes lifetime. You need to need work faster. Once the castle is raided you can get back to your original vampire form for loot. Take some explosives as well, it might work as a defense.
- It has three spells:
 - A basic attack
 - Foot slam
 - Hand arch swing

That's all. Use the abilities, break walls and raid castles because looting is fun.